

Tom Moore has been working in the Human Resources Department at the City of Sacramento for eleven years. He has served as an Organizational Development Specialist and is currently managing the Wellness Program for the City. Tom is also a part-time instructor at the University of Phoenix teaching courses in business communications, human resources and management. He earned a Bachelor of Arts in Communications from UC Davis and a Master of Science in Organization Development from the University of San Francisco. Tom is active in the Sacramento Chapter of ASTD and he enjoys working with the talented volunteers in the region. In his spare time, Tom enjoys his family and music – you may catch Tom performing as Elvis or rocking out with his cover band, “Group Therapy.”